

Signal Armbands – Legal for PIAA Softball

Over the last ten years, softball has grown leaps and bounds and so has its related equipment.

With the advent of new stuff comes the regular question of "is it legal".

With the increased proficiency of the players, the game strategies are also expanding and so is the equipment.

Professional baseball and football has for years been using signal armbands such as the one pictured below.

This equipment has been ruled legal for players and coaches by the NFHS.
