

PIAA Junior Officials Program

Goal-assist in the recruitment of officials

Key Points:

For Chapters

- 16 and 17-year-olds can officiate ninth grade and below contests.
- Chapters must employ a Mentorship Program which must be strong and active.
- Assignors must be aware of Junior Officials and assign them with their mentor.
- Social media access for these groups should be considered.
- Chapters must make these Junior Officials feel welcome at meetings and engage them in conversation during these meetings.
- Junior Official must be given opportunities to work immediately
- Attendance at meetings required.
- Junior Officials are not volunteers and need standard remuneration for contests worked.
- Use social media to publicize events/clinics for prospective officials.
- Conduct separate Junior Official meetings prior to regularly scheduled chapter meetings.
- Create an Officials' Closet for new officials to get uniforms, etc. early in their career.

For Current Officials

- Actively seek out prospective officials.
- Engage Junior Officials in conversations on officiating.
- Become a mentor and work contests with your mentee and provide person to person feedback before, during and after contest.
- Check in periodically with the Junior Official during the week and season.
- Provide video resources to the Junior Official for them to view at their pace.

For Schools

- Game management must be especially alert and active when a Junior Official is working.
- Must actively reach out to prospective officials (students within the school).
- Create/sponsor a club or activity within the school regarding officiating. Use teacher/official as club advisor.
- Provide notoriety to students engaged in the program, congratulate the students in your school.
- Pay standard game fees to Junior Officials.

Coaches' Responsibilities

- Encourage students/players to become officials.
- Treat all officials with respect.
- Leave the adversarial position at the door.
- Provide encouraging feedback to Junior Official through the chapter.

Why Become an Official?

- Hang out with friends.
- Stay fit.
- Opportunities for all sports.
- Make extra money.
- Learn life skills.
- Stay connected to sports by learning rules, assists those who want to coach.

Roadblocks to the Program

- Lack of interest by students and administrators.
- Continued poor treatment of Junior Officials.
- Conflicts with those playing the sport.
- Lack of contests to work.
- Alienation by chapter members.
- Startup costs for Junior Officials.

Additional information

- Registration fees are waived by PIAA for Junior Officials.
- Can officiate at current school district thereby eliminating transportation concerns.
- Junior Officials can graduate to an active, registered PIAA official at age 18 or when they graduate from high school.
- The Chapter should consider conducting an exit interview for those leaving officiating.
- Conflict of Interest should not be an issue with lower-level contests.
- Officially Sports, “The Official Licensed Supplier of the PIAA” will provide uniforms at reduced costs.
